A NEW DAY

Counseling

By definition is the provision of assistance and guidance in resolving personal, social, or psychological problems and difficulties, especially by a professional. What I provide is much more than that...Honesty, Openness, guidance, and clarity.

Mental Healing

Part of our nature requires solitude, alone time, and a subconscious rugged individualism. But this isn't the whole story of our nature. We feel happier, warmer and better, live longer, and experience life as more meaningful if we love and let ourselves be loved. We must be individuals but we must also relate. To do both, to both be ourselves and relate, requires that we acknowledge the reality of others, include others in our plans, not only speak but listen, and makes ourselves fit by eliminating our more egregious faults and by growing up.
